Matt, Laura, Ken and Tom:

We are going out with the Oregon Coastal Zone Management Program disapproval decision with NOAA on Friday. Although this has been noted in weekly reports, I wanted to make sure you were aware of this. We are letting key Congressionals know about this and are doing some proactive press. The key messages are that we are disapproving, but are rolling up our sleeves to work with Oregon on getting to an approved program.

Will:

I just finished the call with Richard and Dick. We worked through the logistics of release of the decision and press contact. I told them we would be talking to AP at 4 on Thursday. We agreed to share press releases and talking points back and forth. They will have a discussion with the AP reporter after we talk with him first. They are currently not planning to talk immediately with the Oregonian Editorial Board. Richard said he thought there would be press interest from Oregonian reporters and possibly from Oregon Public Broadcasting but agreed that the first contact on an embargoed basis with AP was a good call. Marianne Holsman here at Region 10 is working with NOAA press people on this and is coordinating with Oregon press folks in Oregon DEQ and at the Governor's Office.

On the document we have been working back and forth, I told them we were not quite ready to exchange a revision with them, but had discussed the need for improvements on landslide issues. I suggested to them that what we would be looking for at a minimum is an inventory of landslide prone areas and a program for measures to improve forestry practices to avoid landslides in those areas. I indicated the practices could be voluntary measures, but that the mapping and tracking would need to be included similar to what we discussed with respect to legacy roads. Regarding FIFRA and buffers, I told them you were still working that issue. I did indicate that one of the things we had discussed and would be including in the decision document was a more active program for Oregon to insure the applicators were certifying that they were following the FIFRA labels. The decision document discusses a check box for applicators that would indicate that the FIFRA labels would be followed. We will need more discussion of this area and I am looking forward to hearing what you have discussed internally at NOAA so we can revise the document we have been exchanging.

I also told Richard we were planning to have NOAA folks in DC lead a call briefing Congressional staffers. They also are aware of the Friday call that has been set to brief Oregon staff on the decision.

Will, once again, I appreciate your help on all of this and the great coordination we've had between our two agencies.

I will handle it. My only concern is that we owe them a revised document back so if you could take a look at the last revision sometime today that would be good. I will go over the comments they made on it orally and will fill you in by email if there is anything significant that comes up.
